California, in Summer
Concerning Mr. Mellon
New Bootleg Idea
Good-by Wild Horse

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

PLANNING your vacation, do not forget that summer is the Pacific coast season, all the way from San Diego to Seattle, Portland, Santa Barbara, and all the rest of the west coast included.

Many have the impression that the Pacific coast, like the Riviera, is for winter vacations only. A statement by the "All Year Club of Southern California" corrects that mistake.

With excellent, fast trains, California is not far. From Chicago or any middle western point you leave on Friday night, begin your Pacific coast vacation on Monday—having seen your country in the meanwhile. From New York, allow one more day.

Go by one railroad, return by another. That can be arranged on an excursion basis. Or return via the Panama Canal, allowing yourself a few days more. It is well worth it.

• • •

GOING and coming by rail you see the whole country, including the wonders of the west coast, and two weeks is enough for a first experiment. Those experimental two weeks often mean the rest of a lifetime on the west coast.

Don't fritter away your vacation. See your country, including the world's biggest ocean, the Grand Canyon, the magnificent national parks —not forgetting Los Angeles, with Hollywood, world capital of the moving picture.

To know your own country is the beginning of a real education. And to know it you must see it.

• • •

Summer is the best season for seeing the Pacific coast. Seattle, like all the Northwest, is at its best in July and August. Los Angeles is an ideal summer resort. The huge Pacific stores up summer heat that it gives forth in winter and in summer it cools the whole coast. In San Francisco, even in July, you must sleep under blankets. Take a light overcoat with you. You must make some mistakes. But don't go to heaven and be compelled to admit that you never saw the Pacific ocean.

• • •

IT is said by Senator Norris that Mr. Mellon is not fitted to be secretary of the treasury because he owns stock in various corporations.

Laws might be passed affecting those corporations, don't you see? There are 10,000,000 other Americans that also own stock in corporations, and the number is increasing.

Why not select a secretary of the treasury from the simple-minded department of some country workhouse? You'll find men there that own stock in no corporation. They might not reduce the national debt by many billions, as Mr. Mellon has done. But at least you would be sure that they lacked the brains that enable men to acquire stocks.

• • •

BOOTLEGGING borrows an idea from the cuttlefish, via the battle airship. The cuttlefish spreads an inky fluid, as he flees. The protecting airplane lays down a smoke screen, to hide floating battleships from peering periscopes.

The bootlegger, with mind open to new thought, uses for transportation a truck with smoke screen attachment. This is used when police pursue.

The next step, perhaps, will be a poison-gas smoke screen combination.

• • •

ONCE the wild horse was the delight of boys the dream of artists, the mainstay of the story writer that made dogs, wolves and horses think in spite of the fact that real thought without language is impossible.

• • •

Rosa Bonheur wanted a wild horse for a picture. Arbuckle, the coffee man got it for her, hiring a band of men to capture a wild stallion by walking after it in relays, keeping it moving day and night, until exhausted.

• • •

That is past. Montana has started a wild-horse packing plant at Great Falls. Wild horses, worthless while alive, will be captured in Montana, Canada and elsewhere. The meat will be shipped to Europe, hides used here, valuable grazing land saved for sheep and cattle. So passes the wild stallion with his rolling eye. He really amounted to little.

• • •

BRITAIN'S smallpox outbreak, gaining headway in Northampton, where idiots opposed vaccination, frightened the French, with good reason.

To exclude British and American tourists coming from England, as at first planned, would exclude great sums of money. The exclusion order was rescinded.

Now three smallpox cases are found in Paris.

• • •

For the safety of all, everybody should be vaccinated. In schools at least the protection should be compulsory.

• • •

Men, especially the weak-minded, forget quickly.

In France, a little more than 100 years ago, 210 in every 1,000 died of smallpox annually.

In Russia two million died of smallpox in one year.

• • •

The Empress Catherine brought Dr. Dimsdale from England to vaccinate her. When it took, she made him a baron of the Russian empire, gave him 1,000 pounds down and 500 pounds a year for life.

She was a German and intelligent.

SQUALLS LASH OHIO, TAKE ONE LIFE ON LAKE

Several Hurt and Much Property Damage Done by Wind Storms

YOUTH IS DROWNED

Wind Upsets Boat; Three Others Rescued; Livestock Lost

Spasmodic squalls, of near-tornado intensity, lashed Ohio Sunday afternoon, leaving in their wake today one person dead, several injured and much property damage.

Northern and central portions of the state bore the brunt of the cyclonic wind disturbances, which were accompanied by heavy rains.

John O'Brien, 14, was drowned in Lake Erie off Lakewood, yesterday when the wind overturned a boat in which he and three other persons were sailing. The other three were rescued.

Garages and porch roofs were destroyed in the village of Parma, near Cleveland, when the wind tore through that town.

At Newark, Miss Mary Owens, 25, of Utica, was badly cut by flying glass when the wind tore a limb from a tree and hurled it against the auto in which she was riding.

Livestock Killed

Two horses and 60 sheep were killed when the barn of Harry Hunt, on his farm, near Newark, collapsed under a squall. Another barn in the same vicinity, belonging to Ray Chilcote was demolished, killing a horse.

Hail accompanied the wind at Berea and some damage was reported. Thirty telephone poles were leveled along the Northfield-Akron road. Trees were uprooted at Chardon.

All northern lake cities reported slight property damage from the winds. In Cleveland, lightning struck the roof of a wholesale grocery store, doing minor damage.

Parma Village Hit by Twister

CLEVELAND, April 29—Descending with amazing suddenness, a baby twister struck Parma village, south of here, late yesterday, ripped the roofs from half a dozen houses and garages, and lifted as suddenly as it descended.

The place hit by the cyclone was no more than 100 yards square and only buildings on one side of the street were damaged.

Parma was the only place in the city and vicinity where any damage was done, although the wind reached a velocity of 50 miles an hour in downtown Cleveland at the height of the storm.

GIBSON'S PROPOSALS ARE HIT BY BRITTEN

Representative Says American Playing into Hands of British, French

WASHINGTON, April 29—Ambassador Hugh Gibson has played into the hands of British and French diplomats for a second time in proposing to the League of Nations disarmament commission that trained army reserves be omitted from any arms limitation plan, Representative Britten, Republican of Illinois, chairman of the house naval affairs committee, declared today.

The American war department, he said, fought this idea when it was first advanced in Europe two years ago.

"This is the second time within 10 days that Gibson has played directly into the hands of British and French diplomacy," said Britten. "The first was his proposal to accept the British category theory for measuring the naval strength of the five leading powers instead of by global tonnage as was the case in the Washington conference.

"It must not be forgotten that the secret Anglo-French treaty of 1928 which created a storm of disapproval throughout America and England because it was inimical to the best interests of the United States, contained the very clause now being sponsored by the American ambassador.

"Two years ago the war department strongly and effectively objected to the proposal to exclude trained army reserves from military calculations because it made a farce of an otherwise serious object."

25 BUILDINGS DESTROYED BY FIRE AT VERA CRUZ

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, April 29—Twenty-five buildings, including a dozen commercial houses, were destroyed today in the most destructive fire which has swept this port in many years.

Early estimates placed the damage at about 1,000,000 pesos.

The fire-fighting forces of the city finally brought the conflagration under control only after it had burned for several hours.

BODY OF MAN KILLED IN ACCIDENT IS IDENTIFIED

NORWALK, April 29—The body of a man killed by an automobile two miles west of here Saturday morning was identified today as that of Chester Richards, 638 North Park av., Fremont. Coroner C. L. Bell established identification. Virgil Beaver, 28, of Norwalk, alleged driver of the car which killed Richards, was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter, and was released under $5,000 bond.

AND WHAT A KICK!

Dry Agents Go Out for "White Mule" and Get——Them

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 29—Two prohibition officers were in temporary retirement here today to evade jibes of their acquaintances.

The agents received a "hot" tip that a "truckload of white mule" would be brought into Los Angeles through a lonely pass from the desert. Armed with plenty of guns and ammunition the men stood guard in the freezing cold of the mountains all night and were awarded at last when at daybreak they saw a lumbering motor truck climbing up the pass. With a surprise attack they stopped the driver and demanded the white mule. The truck pilot "reached for the sky" and invited the dry officers to help themselves. In the truck they found just what their tip said—three light colored mules, soberly munching oats from nosebags.

LOCAL WOMAN SUFFERS BURNS IN EXPLOSION

Hair Burned from Mrs. Ella Welter's Head When Celluloid Curler Ignites

Mrs. Ella Welter, age 52, sustained severe burns about her head and hands when the heat rays from an electric stove caused a celluloid curler with which she was dressing her hair at her home, 253 South Prospect st., last night to explode.

Practically all of Mrs. Welter's hair was burned from her head as a result of the explosion and both of her hands received several deep burns when she tried to smother the flames.

Mrs. Welter is now undergoing treatment at the home of her brother, Allen Kessler, Mary st., for the prevention of lockjaw. Provided no complications set in within two weeks Mrs. Welter will recover, her physician reports.

Mrs. Welter had the electric stove close at hand for the purpose of drying her hair more quickly, and the hot rays from the stove caused the celluloid curler in her hair to explode.

After her hands were badly burned in a futile attempt to check the blaze, she finally managed to extinguish the flames by throwing a woolen blanket over her head.

She called her brother, who in turn summoned Dr. F. C. Smith.

Dr. Smith gave her first aid treatment and as soon as possible administered the special treatment for the prevention of lockjaw.

Mrs. Welter, who with her brother, owns the Superior Roofing Co., on North State st., came to Marion from Fostoria, the first of the year. She has been connected with the roofing business since 1921.

MRS. DENNETT FINED $300; PLANS APPEAL

Writer of "Sex Side of Life" Freed Until Thursday Afternoon

NEW YORK, April 29—"Grandmother" Mary Ware Dennett was fined $300 for sending her pamphlet, "The Sex Side of Life" through the mails by Federal Judge Warren Burrowes in Brooklyn today.

The maximum penalty for her conviction could have been five years in the federal penitentiary and a fine of $5,000. Previously, Mrs. Dennett declared that in the event of only a fine by the judge she would refuse to pay it and go to jail instead.

However, the question as to whether she should carry out this Spartan-like resolution was deferred by Judge Burrowes paroling the defendant in the custody of her council, Morris Ernst, until next Thursday afternoon. At that time, Ernst said, papers in an appeal from conviction will be filed.

RING BROKEN UP

Liquor Smugglers Headed by Walsh No Longer Exists

WASHINGTON, April 29—A gang of West Indian and American liquor smugglers, one of the leaders of which was Thomas ("Fatty") Walsh, intimate friend of Arnold Rothstein, New York narcotic king, has been broken up, according to the prohibition bureau today.

Walsh was murdered in a Florida hotel some time ago, but the prohibition office had no definite proof that this slaying was the result of a bootleggers' quarrel.

Cuban secret police arrested some members of the gang and several American members have been deported to the United States at the request of this government. This gang, according to the prohibition office, swindled a wealthy New Yorker named Friedman out of $70,000 which they obtained from him to buy a cargo of liquor.

MOVIES OF ZEPPELIN'S FLIGHT WILL BE TAKEN

BERLIN, April 29—Moving pictures will be taken of the Graf Zeppelin's American trip beginning May 15, it was announced today.

A newly-invented moving picture machine, which is protected from fire and explosions, was installed upon the great dirigible before it started upon its last Mediterranean and transiberian cruise. The machine worked without a hitch.

Transit Company Statement Admits Motorman Ran by Stop Signal

NEW YORK, April 29—With the death of Michael McLean this afternoon the death list in New York's latest subway-L crash mounted to four.

• • •

NEW YORK, April 29—Three persons were killed and 40 or more were injured when an elevated train of wooden cars, crashed into another train near a station in the Bronx.

Two cars were telescoped, the wooden cars flared up in flames, many passengers were trapped beneath wreckage and a number of firemen were reported hurt in rescue work.

Half an hour after rescuers got to the scene the bodies of three dead were carried from the wreckage. One was said to be that of a woman.

Four other victims were carried out a few minutes later. They were horribly mangled and burned, but were alive.

Screams of victims trapped in the piles of shattered timbers added to the horror of the scene.

The Interborough Rapid Transit Co. issued a brief statement telling of the crash and admitting that the motorman of the second train had run by a stop signal.

FORMER NURSE IN WAR SERVICE DIES

Mrs. Hildebrandt Who Served with British Forces, Succumbs at Home Here

Mrs. Agnes Crichton Hildebrandt, age 60 years, passed away at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night at the home of her son, George Hildebrandt, 1203 East Center st. Death resulted from a stroke of apoplexy. She had been in ill health for the last three months.

Mrs. Hildebrandt was born in Dumfries, Scotland, on Feb. 29, 1803. She spent most of her early life in England and was matron of the Kensington Infirmary until sent by the British government in charge of nurses' expeditionary forces to South Africa. On Nov. 21, 1900, she married J. Hildebrandt at Johannesburg, South Africa. They resided there until about six years ago, when Mr. Hildebrandt passed away.

Following her husband's death, Mrs. Hildebrandt came to this city and had lived with her son since that time. Until six months prior to her death she had been actively engaged in nursing.

She is survived by one son, at whose home she died, and two brothers, James and Thomas Carson, both of South Africa.

Funeral services will be held at the home Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, with the Rev. S. S. Hardy in charge. Burial will be in Marion cemetery.

HOPE ABANDONED FOR AGREEMENT ON DEBT

Statement Made After Detailed Conference Report Is Received

BERLIN, April 29—All hope for a reparation agreement at Paris has been abandoned, International News Service was informed in authoritative circles close to the government this afternoon.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, head of the German delegation to the Paris conference, made a detailed report to Chancellor Muegler and Ministers Stresemann, Hilferding and Curtius.

Dr. Schacht came to Berlin to attend the meeting of the directors of the Reichsbank.

Even the prospect of a political conference is fading. Belief is maintained in some quarters that another attempt to settle the reparation problem may not be made for about two years. However, it is admitted that two more years' experience with the Dawes plan might involve the transfer crisis in the gravest difficulties not only for Germany but all of Europe.

Five Men Rob Attorney, Beat Him with Knotted Whip

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 29—Sheriff Gladstone Beattie today began an investigation into the flogging of James F. Bickers, crusading attorney-reformer.

Bickers was abducted from in front of his home Sunday afternoon by five men who took him into the country, robbed him of $2,000 and whipped him severely with a knotted whip and ordered him to leave the state.

From his cot in a local hospital, Bickers said he did not know the identity of his assailants. "If I did know, I would not reveal them," he said.

Bickers declared he would leave St. Petersburg and Florida by Tuesday night. He told Mayor John N. Brown to take every precaution as his abductors had threatened the mayor.

The attorney was picked up by motorists and brought to the hospital after a search for him was made. The abduction was witnessed by Bickers' wife, who was ill in bed.

Bickers was active in a campaign against lawlessness here. Recently he filed charges against Sheriff Beattie with Governor Carlton accusing him of taking bribes from bootleggers, permitting gambling and malfeasance and nonfeasance.

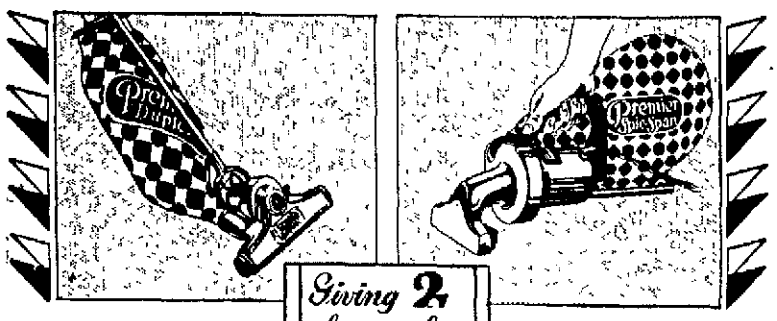
now... in place of attachments this Extra Electric Cleaner



Giving 2 cleaners for the price of one

HERE'S an easier, faster way to clean... without the use of a single attachment. Two electric cleaners—both for the price of one. A big Premier cleaner for the rugs and carpets—and a handy cleaner, the Spic-Span, for lighter tasks.

We want you to test in your own home this new way to speed up housecleaning. It is the climax to Premier's many years of leadership.

The Spic-Span given in place of attachments

The Premier Spic-Span is the result of years of research. It retains all the superiorities of the big Premiers... super-suction, ball-bearings—no oiling! Weighing only four pounds, the Spic-Span can be taken from task to task without waste of time or steps.

It cleans faster and better because it gets its nose close to the dust and dirt. You can plug it into any electric socket and clean mattresses, clothes, stairways, upholstery, automobiles, nooks and crannies everywhere.

Free Demonstration

Why use a big cleaner for little cleaning jobs? With the Premier two cleaner idea, you can cut your housecleaning hours in half. For, as soon as you're finished with the big cleaner, you drop it and pick up the Spic-Span. No lost motion—no unnecessary strain.

The Spic-Span may be purchased separately for $13.50 or in one of the following combinations. Phone or visit us today and arrange for a private demonstration. No obligation.

COLUMBUS April 29—Prohibition and farm problems were thrown to the front today as nearly 2,000 scientists arrived here to attend the seventy seventh annual convention of the American Chemical society which is being held at the Ohio State university here

A lengthy statement was issued in explanation of the foregoing

It is a substance unlike any other alcohols Dr Norris said Its physiological effect on human beings is different It produces no exhilaration, but has a deadening effect

If it can be developed sufficiently it may enable us to get away from that now large class which lies by rectifying denatured alcohol I or not only are bootleggers ignorant of any way to rectify this substance but if they did it would fail to have the desired effects in beverages

Chemists from all parts of the United States are here for the convention

DAY OF SEA CONTROL GONE, SAYS COOLIDGE

To Set Up Claim Would Be Fiction, Former President Writes

PHILADELPHIA April 29—The prophecy that men will not long recognize the sword as the major source of authority is made by former President Calvin Coolidge in the second of three articles appearing in the May issue of Ladies Home Journal

The time has gone by when any one nation is likely to be able to control the sea, writes Mr Coolidge in the article which deals with the promotion of peace through limitation of armaments To set up the claim would be only a fiction and to pursue it would only be a delusion

The question of parity that salient point in many of the disarmament conferences is placed in a like category by the former executive

So much depends on the men behind the guns and the courage and skill with which they are commanded that a seeming paper parity will never be decisive in any armed conflict, Mr Coolidge says He points out that our commerce and communications abroad are so large that they need a navy for their protection without much reference to the size of the navies of other countries The same rule he holds applies to others

The hope of gaining absolute security through armaments is termed another delusion by Mr Coolidge

No nation he writes ever could say that its army and navy make it perfectly secure There are too many other peoples with armies and navies More security will be found in a moderate force which menaces nobody than in a great force which menaces everybody

STATE EDUCATION DIRECTOR SPEAKS

Wilson A. Holmes Guest at Emmanuel Baptist Church Sunday

Wilson A. Holmes, of Granville, state director of religious education in the Ohio Baptist convention, was a guest of the Rev. S. F. Porter and the congregation of the Emmanuel Baptist church Sunday night, and the B. Y. P. U. at 6:30 o'clock. There was large attendance at both meetings. In his talk before the young people Mr. Holmes stressed the B. Y. P. A. slogan, "Enlist for Jesus and Do Everything You Can, Everywhere You Can, All the Time."

At the evening service he took his address from the topic, "You Are the Light of the World. A City Set On a Hill Cannot Be Hid."

"Let the light shine so that others may see your good work and glorify God," he said. "Everyone has a light, either under a bushel or where it should be, leading men to the church, Mr. Holmes believes. He emphasized in his closing words that if people go through life on earth, it is according to the light and where it is used that will determine the reward after death.

HOOVER SUPPORTERS PUSH SENATE ACTION

Split Between President and Borah Feature of Farm Relief Battle

WASHINGTON, April 29—The farm relief problem returned to the congressional spotlight today as the senate resumed debate on the new farm bill.

Administration leaders, certain of eliminating the export debenture plan which President Hoover disapproved, planned to enact the bill by Thursday so it can become a law early next week.

An interesting sidelight to the farm battle is the pending split between President Hoover and Senator William E. Borah, Republican of Idaho, on the debenture plan. Borah, who was Hoover's most ardent supporter in the presidential campaign, told International News Service he planned to vote for the debenture plan if several minor amendments were adopted. This division of opinion between the president and Borah may have far-reaching effects and certainly will be used by the Democrats for political propaganda.

A defective switch at Alton is believed to have caused the accident.

"For the past two years, she had been suffering from stomach, kidney and liver troubles and also rheumatism and neuritis. She complained of a dull distressing feeling in her stomach because of indigestion. She'd get dizzy spells and she was so nervous that she couldn't sleep at night, in fact, the pains of neuritis and rheumatism through her joints and muscles also kept her from sleeping at night.

"During those two years, she tried many different medicines, but nothing ever helped her until she started with the Nu-Erb. This splendid medicine seemed to go right to the root of all her troubles, until now, she can eat anything she wants and never has any trouble with indigestion or gas in her stomach. Her nerves are steady, the rheumatic pains and the neuritis have practically disappeared and she sleeps better at night than she has for years. It is my opinion that anybody who is suffering from similar troubles should give Nu-Erb a trial." Stump & Sams Pharmacy, 121 S. Main St. is headquarters in Marion for Dr. French's Nu-Erb.—Adv.

WOMEN FLYING TO FATHER'S BEDSIDE

Use Ships To Get to Des Moines from Quarantine Outside New York

CURTISS FIELD, N. Y., April 29—Two sisters, Mrs. F. W. Casper and Miss Stella McCord, took off from here today in a plane for Des Moines, Ia., in a desperate race against death to the bedside of their father, a prominent resident of Newton, Ia.

The two women, who were returning from Europe, were taken off the White Star liner Baltic at quarantine and rushed to Curtiss field in an amphibian plane. Then they hurriedly boarded the ship that is to take them to Des Moines.

The sisters were notified by radio that their father was dying and arrangements were made by F. L. Maytag, a friend, to have them taken from the Baltic and rushed to the flying field. They expect to arrive in Des Moines late today.

Raddy Enslow, the pilot of the plane, declared the trip would take about 12 hours, with a stop in Cleveland for refueling purposes.

Three American Missionaries Victims of Chinese Brigands

PEKING, April 29—The American legation here today confirmed reports that three American Catholic missionaries were killed by roving Chinese brigands in western Hunan on April 24.

The victims were Rev. Father Walter Coveyou of Petoskey, Mich., Rev. Father Clement Seybold, of Dunkirk, N. Y., and Rev. Father Godfrey Holbein of Baltimore.

Reports from Chefoo received here stated that Miss Monsen, a missionary attached to the Norwegian Baptist mission at Shantung, was missing after river pirates boarded a ship on which she was a passenger.

Of interest to all furniture buyers—

This is addressed in particular to buyers who consider low price above everything else.

Here at Schaffner's we buy LOW, but only down to a certain price. We buy as low as we dare to buy. We could buy still lower, but if we did buy that kind of merchandise we would lose customers and friends—and that is not a Schaffner policy.

We do not sell furniture just to make one sale, not caring if the customer soon became displeased and never comes back. We feel that we cannot afford that kind of business.

We CAN buy as low, or even lower, than most any store. But when you get below a certain safe price you are buying "plunder," not furniture—and at Schaffner's we do not buy or do not sell "plunder" merchandise.

Pay a few weeks longer and be on the safe side. That's good advice.

To the "Soon-to-be-weds"

We may be wrong, but it does seem to us that the outfit for the new home should not be bought unless "Mr. Groom" comes along to help make the selection.

Husbands may not be the best judges of how the home should be furnished, but they do have ideas of their own that help—ideas of comfort, practicality.

If "HE" cannot get off during the day, or on a Saturday afternoon, we can, if we're given to know a definite appointment for the evening visit to the store. That is a fine way to get us quick, by the way. You have the whole store to remember everything to show you so you don't get hurried and you can take plenty of time. Many young couples bring "the folks" or close friends along—which is another splendid idea.

"Unseen Hands," Another Mystery

Ritzy Rosalie

ROSALIE is watching for a certain bright and shining sport roadster to pull up to the curb below. And speaking of things that shine—more appropriately, "glow"—Rosalie's face is a good example. The "glowing" face fad started where so many unusual things originated—in Hollywood, with the movie stars. The idea of a softly shining complexion is that it gives the impression of youthfulness. The "glowing" face is not to be confused with the "shiny" face which is almost a facial ill.

Daily Proverb— Who draws others into evil courses is the devil's factor!

Of course it's not impossible that the report that three boys and a girl were born to a San Francisco woman one day last week may be a bit of birth control propaganda

Superio Judge Carlos S Hardy of Los Angeles was acquitted of all charges of misdemeanors in office the members of the California senate probably figuring that while he might accept $2 500 from Aimee Semiple Mc Pherson as a love offering his long legal training would preclude his acceptance of a fee so small

It seems that the Leviathan got back to New York without any untoward incident unless it would be that the passengers aboard looked upon the throwing overboard of 170 bottle of booze as such

Bandits armed with machine guns baffle pursuit and get away with $7 000 of the payroll of a Buffalo concern killing one man and wounding three others and the same day a payroll of $5 321 is taken in much the same way in Pittsburgh There can be little question but what law enforcement is at its lowest ebb in all our history

When four persons in different parts of Detroit are taken in one day and held for ransom it gives us another slant on the extent of the hold crime has on the country and goes to support President Hoover's contention that the crime problem is the greatest faced by the land

Those familiar with the approaches to the bridge across the Olentangy just south of Stratford will naturally wonder what could have been the mental processes of young James Begg of Columbus when he attempted to cross the bridge at eighty miles an hour That his two fraternity brother companions did not meet death with him is a mystery of mysteries as the approaches are dangerous at even a moderate speed

The sheriff up in Lorain probably in the failure of the city authorities to do their duty has ordered that every slot machine in the city must be out by Wednesday or they will be wrecked But you never can tell We were told a month or such a matter ago that the operation of punch boards would no longer be tolerated here in our own city

Sandino has been granted the right of asylum in Mexico on condition that he will refrain from any activity which may embarrass the government of Nicaragua Even the enemies of the government of the United States here at home who have been doing their utmost to embarrass our government as a result of our policy in Nicaragua will have a hard time making out that there is a Sandino revolution on down there with the outlaw leader a fugitive in Mexico

Church and School

According to the fourteenth triennial report of the publication and Sunday-school board of the Reformed church in the United States churches have finally awakened to the challenge issued them by the public schools

The church is challenged to carry on its work of religious education effectively or turn it over to the public schools is the wording of the report which will be submitted to the general synod of the Reformed church at Indianapolis the week of May 7

Another challenge issued to the church schools is that the churches define specifically the place of religion in character education and that they fit their methods to the peculiar needs of their pupils Revolutionary as it may seem to conservative religion there is every reason to believe that the benefits of Sunday school education could be made much greater by application of specialized methods in teaching It is certainly undisputed that individual requirements vary in religious education as much as they vary in secular education

Religion has never become a universal subject in the public schools because of the impossibility of catering to widely diverse demands The church whether it be willing to take the responsibility or not remains the supreme force in the realm of religious education

There are some persons who can see no justification for the continuance of religious education of any kind They are entitled to their beliefs but common sense and observation of the child mind in relation to its development as a civic asset in adult life contradict them Religion which encourages an active moral sense is needed in daily life Business and professional methods reading and writing trades and sports can be taught effectively but their operation is not fully effective unless the learner has ideals necessary to conduct his life Religious instruction is a very fine way to build up worthy idealism

Trying To "Get" Mr. Mellon

Judging by the published although unpassed Norris report Senator George W Norris of Nebraska is terribly worried over what is held out to be his conviction that Andrew W Mellon is holding the secretaryship of the treasury in violation of the law of the United States

Those who have followed the course of the senator and his friends in the upper house of congress ordinarily would see no ground for concern in the situation for it is patent to all that Mr Norris is given to worrying and is afflicted with hair trigger convictions whenever he has an ax to grind Unfortunately he is chairman of the senate judiciary committee and as such has succeeded in influencing seven other members of the committee to vote in support of a report demanding that the secretary be ousted the committee being at present deadlocked—eight for and eight against the report

Had the matter come up in other way than that in which it did we might take more stock in the Nebraska senator's great alarm over the dread thought that Mr Mellon has illegally served as secretary of the treasury under three presidents—and incidentially made himself stand out as the best secretary of the treasury the country ever had As it is however we can not escape the belief that Mr Norris and his friends are simply out to get Mr Mellon

This conviction is strengthened by the fact that the first effort was to oust the secretary because of the fact that his name had not been submitted to the senate by the president A second effort was predicated on the trumped up charge of which we heard so much during the campaign that he was engaged in the whisky business Unable to get the secretary on either of these grounds the third was taken up in committee the claim being made that under a 100 year old law secretaries of the treasury are prohibited from directly or indirectly being interested in business

Preceding the taking over of the treasury portfolio under President Harding Mr Mellon retired from all business directorships with which he was associated at the time and surrendered all offices held by him in corporations but he naturally did not give away such bond and stock holdings as he had He has frankly stated that he had substantial stock holdings in the Aluminum Company of America the American Gulf Oil company and the Standard Steel Car company but that in none of them does he hold sufficient stock to give him control

Were the Norris report a statement of facts and the conclusions reached by those supporting it no serious objection could be offered but it so overflows with utter claptrap and insincerity as to make plain the animus behind it

To deny that the owner of stock in a corporation is interested in the business of such corporation is a violation of all logic and reason says the report in part 'And to assert that the owner of such stock is not even indirectly concerned or interested in the business of the corporation must impress the minds of honest people as being ridiculous

If we expect to enforce the law generally as to the citizens of our country why have we not the same right to ask that our states men and our public officials should be weighed in the balance continues the report after referring to President Hoover's plea for law observance

And is it not true that the ordinary citizen will not have the same respect for law generally if he understands that a plain statute is being violated by those in control of the government itself? Why not begin law enforcement at the top?

If however concludes the report in a final appeal to prejudice as silly as it is unfair the country has reached the condition where only men owning millions of stock in business corporations are qualified to hold office as secretary of the treasury then instead of trying to nullify the law and set a precedent before the people we should amend it or repeal it so that at least we could truthfully say that those whose duty it is to enforce the law are not themselves looking for technical means by which the law can be nullified

Senator Norris knows that if the ownership of stock held for investment will disqualify a man for the treasury portfolio the amount of the stock thus held is not material that under such an interpretation of the law one $10 share of stock will work disqualification just as effectively as a million shares Thus all the talks about millionaires can be taken as a deliberate effort to arouse prejudice

If we are to take the report as literally as it would have the statute cited by it construed the country would be practically forced to go to the almshouses and other charitable institutions for its secretaries of the treasury No man who held stock in any company or had an investment of any kind not even a government bond could qualify for the position

In a word the influences behind the Norris report are those of disappointment and bitterness joined in an attempt to embarrass an administration the head of which was successful despite all efforts to defeat him at the election of last November those of political renegades included

Governor Cooper having signed the $131 000 000 appropriations bill there doesn't appear to be any reason for the faithful to worry seriously over the morrow, for the next two years at least

The two British Royal Air force aviators seeking to fly from London to Calcutta had to make a forced landing at Allahabad India but a mark of 4 131 miles in fifty hours and eighteen minutes is not to be sneezed at even if the goal sought was not reached especially so when it is considered that the plane used was a regulation machine not especially constructed for the flight

ANOTHER HEAT VICTIM.

"Nervousness" as a Disease.

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D

What is nervousness? We hear so many women say I'm so nervous What do they mean and why are they that way

Women are more highly-organized more sensitive in their natures than men are They are more emotional less restrained in giving way to their feelings They cry easily They suffer more

I am not at all sure it would be good for the world to have them different We need their enthusiasm their readiness to express joy and sorrow their tenderness their warm hearts. It would be a cold and barren world without their many contributions to the common welfare

But of course there are unfortunate women who have such emotional natures that they are in real distress much of the time Their nervousness becomes a disease This condition is serious enough so that its victim requires medical attention

If the physical and mental state becomes so pronounced that sleeplessness and loss of appetite are daily experiences it is certainly time that something should be done about it Unnatural fear worry mental depression jumping at every sound headache backache inability to carry on in the accustomed tasks—these are distressing symptoms

In analyzing the common expressions of nervousness we must seek two sets of causes One may be spoken of as the external causes— the surroundings financial and domestic conditions All the outside influences that work against happiness and tranquility of mind are included

Generally speaking these are temporary Time heals many wounds of the heart and mind Or else the crushed soul adapts itself to the miserable circumstances

It is more than likely what we call the internal causes for nervousness are more serious These have to do with the physical the bodily causes for misery

Studying these carefully we find that they can be traced to the pelvic organs the abdominal organs or to a disturbance of the nervous system caused by the absorption of poisons generated within the body Of course this is a very general statement but it is not far from accurate

Disease or congestion of the womb the ovaries or the bladder—some local acid disturbance within the pelvis—here may be the trouble which is disturbing the nervous system

Wrong eating insufficient food excessive quantities of food are all causes In consequence there is stomach or intestinal trouble Or else the kidneys liver or other abdominal organs may be failing to work properly

There may be abscessed teeth infected tonsils diseased gall bladder or fermentation in the bowel Because of that condition wherever it is poisons are formed which excite brain and nervous system

This is a brief outline very brief indeed but it may be helpful to some poor sufferer It may point the way to proper treatment and out of that may come relief of those dreadful symptoms of nervousness

Editorial Opinion.

A NEW WORD FOR WORLD PEACE

Reduction instead of limitation is the word stressed by Ambassador Hugh Gibson as official spokesman for President Hoover in his momentous address before the Geneva preparatory commission This body is entrusted merely with laying plans for the calling of a general disarmament conference and it was feared that its proceedings would be wordy perfunctory and inconclusive The Gibson address brings the commission into an expected prominence and points the way for a new outlook toward peace in perpetuity

The United States holds to its affirmed principle of naval reduction by tonnage categories It was this insistence during the Coolidge kellogg regime that brought about the failure of the three-power conference Great Britain and the United States were equally unyielding and there was nothing to do but admit inability to reach an understanding

Without repudiating the Coolidge kellogg policy Mr Gibson restates it in such a manner that all the powers including Great Britain seem hopeful of agreement Admitting that there are many highly complicated questions to be answered in any program for naval reduction by tonnage categories Gibson says that the United States is desirous of discovering or devising a measuring rod which will be satisfactory to every one In other words there is to be further American objection to each nation utilizing its tonnage within each category according to its own special needs Even the tonnage categories may not be arbitrary but various classes of vessels may be reasonably valued according to their practical utility

With this liberal and elastic program enthusiastically received it is expected that the naval experts who have offered learned technical advice will find very little occupation in future sessions of the commission The American spirit is one of friendly mutual concessions of common sense give and take It becomes political rather than technical And above all it is significant as presenting the new viewpoint of logical reduction in place of the old aspect of limitation of permissible maximums —Cleveland Plain Dealer

THE DEBENTURE SHOULD BE DROPPED

Although the majority of the members of the senate committee on agriculture have stuck to the debenture feature of the farm relief bill in spite of the emphatic expression of disapproval by President Hoover there is no visible reason to believe that it will be found in the measure after final passage And it is unlikely that Senator Caraway and other members of the upper house who are wasting the public time in a political play, have any real idea that they will get anywhere

Chairman McNary of the committee made a significant statement when he decided that it would be vain to send the farm bill to the president without eliminating the debenture feature because to do so would be to invite a veto And this practical acquiescence in the executive position becomes doubly impressive upon recollection of the position Mr McNary has long held as a champion of farm relief and of the equalization fee for which the debenture scheme was designed to be a substitute

Even if the senate retains the debenture feature the chance that the house will follow suit seems so remote as to be practically non existent

If congress should send to the White House a measure totally unacceptable to the president and the president should veto it the farmers would know who to blame and they wouldn't blame Mr Hoover The practical politicians in congress know that perfectly well—Detroit Free Press

THE SINCLAIR CASE

Harry Sinclair is a man of millions whose operations in oil and his connection with the famous government oil scandals have for long attracted the attention of the civilized world But Mr Sinclair must go to prison for three months—unless the president sees fit to interpose a pardon

Mr Sinclair goes to prison because he refused to answer the questions of a senate investigating committee in connection with the alleged oil scandals He was cleared of the charge of conspiracy to defraud the government though twice placed on trial on the last trial being acquitted

In this case just what is justice probably is a matter for individual interpretation He goes to prison for contempt alleged to have been committed five years ago It is admitted that the questions asked Sinclair by the Walsh committee have not proved of consequence in the oil scandal exposition But the decision of the supreme court in his case appears to establish the right of government to proceed to almost any lengths by employment of a legislative committee in dealing with matters alleged to have been injurious to the government's best interests —Cincinnati Enquirer

I will bear the indignation of the Lord because I have sinned against Him until He plead my cause and execute judgment for me He will bring me forth to the light and I shall behold His righteousness — Micah 7 9

The Sun and the Comets.

BY GARRETT P SERVISS

The most interesting thing that has been heard about comets in a long time is the result of the studies of N T Bobrovnikoff of the Lick observatory on the disintegration of comets It has long been known or suspected that comets gradually go to pieces in traveling around the sun, and become scattered in closed orbits thus forming meteor swarms According to this view meteors are the debris of disintegrated comets The destruction takes place in consequence of the contending forces that act upon comets especially when near the sun A suggestive but imperfect illustration is the stringing out of a field of race horses starting in a bunch, and gradually as turn after turn is made stretching into a line which in extreme cases may extend around all around the track There are a number of well known meteor showers which occur every year This would be explained if they were caused by the annual encounter of the earth with the fragments of an ancient comet which had in the course of many centuries become drawn out like a dust trail around the whole of the orbit once followed by the comet. A number of comets have also actually been seen in the process of such division, particularly after rounding the goal at perihelion

Bobrovnikoff has studied the disintegration of comets statistically The investigation is a difficult one but he has been able to conclude that the process of disintegration is not confined to the short period comets whose passages around the sun are relatively frequent but that all comets are subject to it He says

In their obedience to the law of disintegration comets form a system all members of which follow the same career with the same ultimate fate * * * These facts constitute strong evidence for the common origin of comets * * * The system of comets is closed that is we have no influx of new comets coming from the depths of the universe * * * On the other hand the disintegration of comets is an irreversible process There is no building up of new comets from the meteoric and gaseous matter diffused in space

He then goes on to say that if all comets have a common origin they could not have come into existence simultaneously with the planets Indeed certain calculations based on the assumed law of disintegration and some other assumptions indicate that the earth is a thousand times more ancient than the date when the comets originated Then there are new comers in the solar system The reader at once wishes to know whence they came and what they are The indications are that they may have been captured by the sun in its journey through space some time within a million years The sun is travelling with its planets from the direction of the constellation Orion A million years ago the sun was seventy light years nearer Orion than it is today It is well known that the realms of space is filled with great nebulae and apparently with agglomerations of meteoric matter If the sun in its journey did pass through that great nebulous and meteoric slough it might have acquired its strange assemblage of meteors and there They chased like horse-flies out of a swamp They buzz about the earth and the other planets like midges

Bobrovnikoff remarks that F Nolke offers as a possible explanation of the earth's glacial periods the action of the diffuse matter through which the sun once passed as he adds We may note here that there are indications that meteorites were formerly abundant in the early geological epochs The conspicuous absence of meteorites from the strata older than 1 000 000 years has been interpreted by some investigators as an argument for their terrestrial origin It may with equal right be regarded as an indication of the absence of meteorites from the solar system before the quarternary epoch

These intensely interesting facts and suggestions have been developed by Mr Bobrovnikoff together with his mathematical processes in Lick Observatory Bulletin No 408 —Copyright 1929 International Feature Service Inc

Some laws that seem highly plausible and reasonable are not so reasonable in practice The law to be found in some states that children must attend school until they are eighteen often proves not only a great burden but a mistake Science has long since proved there are many children unfortunately who are incapable of progressive learning up and including the age of eighteen Keeping such children in school deprives them of useful work and the opportunity of making a living or helping their families to make a living They are kept on the taxpayers' rolls to no purpose Schooling should depend on the pupil and his capacity rather than on law

We need not entirely discouraged Too Sunday schools have been improved—greatly improved The idea of religious teaching and training is of much greater importance and more suited to human needs than it once was But here is room for improvement yet to be had With more highly trained teachers and with a more compelling modern view point teachers and Sunday-school lessons can be made to minister to youth as it is today

18 LOST WHEN BOAT IS SWEPT BY BLAZE

Disaster Occurs to Inter-Philippine Island Vessel, Result of Blast

MANILA, April 29—Eighteen of the crew of the inter-island steamer Viking, were believed to have been lost today when the ship burned to the waters edge in the Visayan sea after an explosion caused by the ignition of a volatile gas used in cleaning hatches.

Several of the crew were blown overboard and badly burned when the blast occurred late yesterday.

Atmospheric conditions hampered the functioning of the ship's radio, and an SOS call could not be sent out, but the flames which resulted were seen from afar aboard the steamer Delta which rushed to the scene.

The Delta stood by the blazing vessel all through the night picking up 11 survivors, including the chief officer.

It is feared that all others aboard the Viking, including Capt. Charles G. Olsen were lost. Most of the crew were Filipinos and Chinese.

Old-Time Religion Needed, Woman Evangelist Declares

Mrs. Edna Beougher Hughes Opens Meetings at Calvary Church

"Some people call the old-time religion just a spell of excitement. If it is, it would be a good thing if more people would get excited."

This was one of the opening statements of Mrs. Edna Beougher Hughes, evangelist at Calvary Evangelical church, in her sermon Sunday night on "One Thing I Know."

"It would keep out of the world lots of meanness and sin and keep us out of the devil's territory," she continued. "I believe in the new birth and that Jesus Christ comes into our lives and speaks peace to our souls, and we can know when and where it happened. God is a God of light, of wisdom, of power and of authority. If He was a God who would keep people in the dark, always just hoping, thinking and believing they were saved, He would not be the just and merciful God that we know He is.

"God always warns people before He does anything to them and it is up to them to take warning. Being saved is not a matter of our doing our best and hoping so, it is a matter of getting rid of our sins and getting right with God, and it is a know-so experience. Those who have really known the Lord and who are really saved, have never wanted to leave Him, no matter how hard the way. It just draws them a little closer to Him.

EDNA BEOUGHER HUGHES

"If you do not know you have been born again and saved from your sins, you will never be able to help anyone else into the Kingdom," the evangelist concluded.

There were five altar responses to this second sermon of the slightly-built woman evangelist who will be here two weeks to conduct services at Calvary church. Her subject for the morning was "Proving God."

Mrs. C. Z. Zachman and Miss Velma Schneller gave a vocal duet as a part of the special music program by the men's chorus and choir last night.

Social Activities

A LOVELY wedding of the early spring was solemnized Sunday at Emanuel's Lutheran church, when Miss Kathryn Whitler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Whitler, Stark ct., became the bride of Wilbur E. Stitz, of Dayton. The Rev. J. W. Schillinger, pastor of the church, read the single ring ceremony at 8 o'clock.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. George Turner and Mrs. William Ackerman were heard in a program of wedding music. Mrs. Turner sang "At Dawning," by Cadman, and "Oh, Promise Me," by Koren, and Mrs. Ackerman played a group of organ numbers including "Jour de Noces," Roland Diggle, and "Salut D' Amour," Elgar, and the Bridal Chorus, from Lohengrin, as members of the bridal party approached the altar. During the ceremony Mrs. Ackerman played "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Ackerman played the "Wedding March" from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" as the party left the church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a period costume of white satin and tulle and carried a large bouquet of calla lilies. She wore a trailing veil of white lace, caught at her head with a circlet of small flowers. She was attended by Miss Goldie VanBuskirk, maid of honor, who was attired in a pale green taffeta dress, period design, with an uneven hemline. The bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Stark who was dressed in a similar costume of pale pink, and Miss Helen Roby, who was gowned in pale yellow. The attendants carried arm bouquets of Columbia roses, and wore large picture hats in corresponding shades. Herbert Stitz, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man, and Carl Campbell and Loren Fetter were ushers.

An informal reception and wedding breakfast were held at the Y. M. C. A. dining room, following the ceremony, and the couple left immediately for a week's trip to Lafayette, Ind., the home of the bridegroom's parents. The bride was attired in a rose georgette dress, with a coat and accessories of tan.

The couple will live in Dayton, where the bridegroom is employed as a mechanical engineer at the Durlon Co. He is a graduate of Purdue university, class of 1926, and the bride is a graduate of Harding High school, class of '23, and attended Ohio Wesleyan university for one year. She has been employed at the C., D. & M. Electric Co.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. William Stitz and sons Herbert and Dean, family of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Guy Levering, of Lafayette; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, of St. Petersburg, Fla.; Mrs. Richard Wolfe and son Junior, of Erie, Pa.; and Mr. and Mrs. George Rapp, Mr. and Mrs. William Hangan of St. Marys, and Mrs. Arthur Lever, of Upper Sandusky.

Piano Trio Numbers Are Unusual Feature in Third of Civic Concert Series

Presented by Two Marion Musicians and Miss Cougle, of Mt. Victory; Chorus of Four Local Singers Have Leading Part in Program; Final Concert Set for May 12

There were two particularly interesting numbers in the civic concert given Sunday afternoon in the Star Auditorium, one of the series of four free public recitals sponsored by the Marion Lecture-Recital club and the Casto club in association with the Marion Star, which is donating the auditorium.

Those two numbers were the three-piano opening selection, "Concerto, No. 7," Mozart, and the concluding song-cycle, "The Morning of the Year," Cadman.

Three-piano numbers are rare in Marion concert work and that chosen by Mrs. H. K. Mouser, director of the program, Miss Bernice Cougle, of Mt. Victory and Miss Helen Zurk Lacey, to play as the opening number of the concert, was particularly well selected. Mozart's composition was beautifully played, and perfectly timed between the three musicians.

Sing Cadman Number

For the second time this season, Miss Vivian Long, soprano, Mrs. Earl N. Hale, contralto, Truitt Brown, tenor and Knox Dunlop, baritone, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. H. K. Mouser, presented Cadman's beautiful "The Morning of the Year." The words of the cycle were selected from the words of modern poets and set to music by the composer.

The chorus of four voices opened the number, followed by solos by each of the singers. Spring was welcomed, and then the first month of the spring year, March, called to awaken. April with its rains was portrayed in the first part, and May, the month when the earth opens into its full beauty, was the theme of the second part. The closing part was sung by the chorus as a farewell to spring, for summer, "with all her gaudy shows," has come.

The solos, duets and four-voice parts were charmingly presented and the four-voice parts showed a rare harmonizing of four voices of differing ranges.

Solo Groups Presented

Between the first and last numbers were several solo groups, opening with two numbers by Knox Dunlop, "Old Heidelberg, The Splendid," Jensen and "The Two Grenadiers," Schumann. The first was a song of praise and the last a martial song closing with strains of "La Marseillaise."

Mrs. Earl N. Hale, contralto, whose pleasing voice has been heard in many concerts and choruses here, sang the second group, "All in An April Evening," and "Sunset," Buck.

As a change in the voice program, Miss Margaret Hoover, who is talented as a violinist, played "Andante," DeBeriot and "Melody," Dawes. Her encore, one of the two given the appreciative audience, was Nevin's "Mighty Lak a Rose."

Truitt Brown, of near Kenton, who has not been heard here often, but who possesses an interesting tenor voice, deep and melodious, sang "When Soft Winds Blow," Gaudy and "Caprice Viennoise," Kreisler. As an encore he sang "Land of My Dreams."

The program was interesting, both from the balance and rendering of the numbers, and the pleasant reception of the large audience.

May 12 the Marion Civic orchestra, assisted by soloists, will present the fourth and last of the concerts, at the Star auditorium.

GIVES MENU FOR "SPIRITUAL MEAL"

Local Pastor Describes Three Courses Necessary for Health of Soul

The Rev. G. G. Canfield, pastor of the First Church of the Brethren, preached an interesting sermon on "A Three-Course Spiritual Meal," last night to a large congregation. The sermon opened with a Scripture reading, "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

The Rev. Mr Canfield said: "The passages of Scripture and others of the teachings of Jesus will indicate the value of the spiritual meal, and suggestive the three courses vs. the natural food.

"Soup, the first course, is principally style and custom, but valuable. This part of the spiritual meal has in it sociability, which has food value, but not the most substantial kind. I must say that this soup is good, but one must not try to live on it for it cannot be done. But that is not all, and why should one leave the table at this point of the meal?

"The meal. It is the substantial food, and we have it in abundance and very palatable. Each item is a feature and it seems that the Lord is happy only when He sees His family enjoying what He puts before them. Worship is a wonderfully nourishing food, and He puts before us plenty of service which must be indulged in. Love is the spread that is used with everything on the table. Mix it up with fellowship, and it is the sweetest thing in all the world. Sympathy is that one side dish that is never left out of this spiritual meal. That soul that has eaten freely of this meal is now ready for the dessert, which the Lord provided and no one dare refuse.

"This dessert is not one thing, but several, of which are that 'Second mile' joy and 'Free will' gifts over and above the tithe. How can we help but 'run over' that others might have something when He keeps 'Giving good measure pressed down, shaken together?'"

White? Not these clothes!
THERE was plenty of soap. The clothes were scrubbed thoroughly, and rinsed. But the water was hard. The soap mixed with the hard water, and formed a dirty ring around the basin—scum! The scum got into the fabric of the clothes. That's why the clothes weren't clean.
But they can be clean. How? By washing them in soft water. And how can hard water be made soft? By adding Melo. The water is now a wonderfully cleaner, with or without soap; and the soap much more effective. Get a can today at your grocer's.

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right
The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.
Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.
The simplest remedy for constipation, the safest for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?
A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles.
Do give it a trial, to prove how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours.—Adv.

The Forbidden Door

WHAT TERRIBLE EVIL LAY BEHIND ITS MASK?

BY HERMAN LANDON

FORTY-TWO

THERE was a touch of awe and reverence and dread in Maxwell's voice. And to Hannan, as he listened closely, the complex and erratic personality of his grandfather seemed very real. He could almost feel Old Winthrop's presence in the room.

"Yes," said Maxwell, "Traycore is just as much a creature of Old Winthrop as are the clock and the revolving globe and all the other things. Unwittingly, and with the best intentions, he made Traycore the human beast he is today. It began long ago when Traycore was a poor medical student. Old Winthrop met him one day, and saw in him a promising and plastic young man whom he could fashion according to his own pattern. It was another manifestation of that passionate desire of Old Winthrop's to impress his character on others. Young Traycore looked something like your grandfather and that was a thing that instantly interested Old Winthrop. The molding process would be all the simpler.

"He wanted young Traycore not only to look like himself, but to act and think as he did. It wasn't a mean trait: it was just Old Winthrop's way.

"He made young Traycore his protege and defrayed the expenses of his medical education. The young man proved a bright and willing subject. He was brilliant in his studies, and he conceived a sort of veneration for your grandfather that made him eager to accept him as his prototype.

"As you know, Old Winthrop had a strong scientific bent, but he failed to concentrate his energies on any one thing for very long. That was his one weakness. He dipped into one enterprise after another with great enthusiasm, spending money lavishly on every project he took up. Then one day he made a discovery that was radically apart from his previous researches. It promised to have the most profound effects. You know that some of the world's greatest discoveries have come about partly through accident. It was so with this one."

"What was it 1?" Hannan asked, though he thought he could make a fairly close guess.

"You have already seen a demonstration of the idea. I spring it on Mallingham, Julia and Peters, partly because I did not wish to be seen by the others guests in the house, and also because it pleased me to give the rascals a well-deserved scare. Old Winthrop's influence again. He discovered the thing that gave them such a shock."

"Invisibility," Hannan murmured in a dazed tone.

Maxwell nodded. "Any number of quacks have experimented with the idea in the past. They overlooked the important fact that invisibility was to be achieved through the eye, not through the object to be rendered invisible. The principle, as Old Winthrop discovered it and as Dr. Traycore explained it to me afterward, is really very simple. You suspend certain functions of the eye, and partial or complete blindness results. Few eyes are perfect. Nearly everybody is affected with blindness in a certain degree, manifesting itself in the inability to distinguish colors properly.

"Well, to make it brief, Old Winthrop discovered that results somewhat similar to those produced by atrophy of the optic nerve could be achieved artificially for shorter or longer periods and without causing permanent injury to the eye.

"Invisibility could be achieved by clothing a person or an object in a given color—green, for instance—and then rendering the retina of the eye incapable of focusing that particular color. For instance, clothe a man in green, then inject a substance into the eye which suspends the faculty of vision so far as green is concerned, and that man becomes invisible."

"Marvelous," said Hannan, "and so simple!"

"Simple in principle, but not in practice." Maxwell corrected. "Old Winthrop's difficulty was to find a substance that would produce just the exact effect desired and no more, and that could be brought in contact with a person's eyes without the person knowing it. He searched for years, and at length he found something—a certain gas that can be sprayed by means of an air pump—but it wasn't the perfect thing. The perfect thing hasn't been found yet. The present gas betrays itself by causing a slight smarting of the eye. Maybe you noticed it. Dr. Traycore is looking for something that is absolutely perfect. He is trying to improve the method of administration, too. He may succeed."

Maxwell's voice sounded husky and tired. His figure sagged wearily within the loose-fitting gray suit he wore.

"Old Winthrop made his discovery in the first year of the World War," he went on. "At first he looked upon it as a freakish thing. He couldn't see how anything practical could come of it. Yet he went into it with his whole heart, the way he went into everything else. Then one day he was talking with a friend, a foreigner who had lived in America a number of years and who was a dabbler in science. Old Winthrop knew he could trust him. Without going into details, he gave the broad outlines of his discovery in the form of a hypothetical case, asking his friend's opinion of it. They talked for hours that day and the next. Though Old Winthrop didn't know it then, the friend was connected with the secret intelligence department of a certain foreign government. A few weeks later he was offered a staggering sum of money for his formula, imperfect as it was.

"That offer opened Old Winthrop's eyes to the vast importance of his discovery. He began to see how it could be used in a number of practical ways. A nation at war, for instance, would be virtually powerless against an enemy that could send invisible spies across its lines and into its council chambers. Even the idea of invisible armies did not seem so very preposterous. The magnitude of his discovery frightened Old Winthrop. He realized it could be used with terrible effects, for evil as well as for good. In the end he refused the offer. He didn't care for money. Besides he wanted to find a gas better suited to his purpose than the one he had. It was perfection or nothing with Old Winthrop. But I think his real reason was something else. He hesitated to put such a powerful weapon in the hands of people who might misuse it. He saw possibilities, good and bad, without end. Criminals, for instance, might employ such a discovery with terrible effects. It might upset social, political and domestic relations everywhere.

"It might even change the present status of civilization, and Old Winthrop felt he would be morally responsible for whatever happened. And so he decided to wait until he could perfect his idea and surround it with certain safeguards. He was prepared to give the rest of his life to the work.

"Soon he realized that he was not adequately equipped for the task. He had been a dabbler all his life, jumping from one thing to another, and not specializing in any one thing. What he needed was an assistant thoroughly conversant with chemistry and physiology. Naturally he thought of Dr. Traycore, whose character and education he had molded and who by that time was almost his second self. Traycore, who had specialized in diseases of the eye and distinguished himself by his work in chemistry, was just the man he needed.

"Traycore had been started to practice medicine. He was in love with a beautiful young woman, and they were to be married soon. He was all enthusiasm when Old Winthrop explained his project. Old Winthrop fired him with his marvelous energy and the sweep of his imagination. They worked night and day, making numerous experiments. Then, one day, an accident occurred in the laboratory. It was an explosion due to Old Winthrop's unprofessional manner of handling certain acids. The result of that accident was Traycore's disfigurement for life.

"A nervous tremor went through Maxwell. "You may see Traycore soon. He is not a pleasant sight. A dreadful face, Hannan. It was a long time before I could look at it without turning sick. You can imagine what that accident meant to him. His patients left him, and his friends shunned him. Strangers avoided him. When she saw him one day after the accident, his fiancee looked at him in stunned abhorrence. She fled with a scream of horror, and he never saw her after that. She wasn't to blame. No woman could endure the sight of such a face. That didn't lessen the severity of Traycore's predicament, however. He saw his life and his career go to pieces. All his days would be a process of slow torture."

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

GOD must have got Saturday and Sunday mixed. Saturday was bammy and Sunday was rotten. Sunday morning me and Jubilee was sleeping like we were getting paid for it, and the next we knew there was a clap of thunder that lifted us out of bed and put us in the middle of the floor looking at each other in the half dark and wondering what had happened. And then it lightninged and thundered again and we grinned at each other. Thunder and lightning is dangerous but there ain't anything anyone can do about it so he might as well grin. I wonder what a man does when he gets married and swears to protect a woman, when she is afraid of lightning.

The sky was light all the way around the world close down when I went out to empty the ashes, but everywhere else it was blue-black and there was little wisps of cloud hanging down so far that it looked like a fella could almost reach up and get hold of it and climb up out of sight. The clouds seemed to be moving offul fast, and there was thunder and lightning all the time, and while I was emptying the ashes the bunch began to come, and they were all running as fast as they could so as to get in the barn before anything happened, and then when I got the milk pail and got half ways to the barn the rain came down. When I had got the dummed brutus milked the rain was still coming down, so I staid out in the barn and we talked about Benjamin Franklin and his kite and how he discovered lightning. Then we talked about the time our calf was killed by lightning in the barn right whilst we were there, and we all got scairt to stay in the barn so we all run to the house and went in the kitchen, only the Last Dog of Tripe, he was the last one and Nibs shut the door in his face and held it. We were all there dreening on my mother's kitchen floor and the Last Dog of Tripe pushing to get in when my dad came out and grabbed Nibs and flung him away from the door and in came the Last Dog of Tripe dripping all water and the last thing Nibs did he reached in by my dad and he has to grow all over again, and then Nibs and the Last Dog of Tripe started in to fight and my dad staggered all the way across the kitchen with his arms around her, and it was like being hugged by a wet sponge. She was almost as wet as he was when she pushed him away; and when it came time for her to wash me for Sunday school she got even on me for what he done to her.

But it rained so we had to stay home. We went down in our cellar and tried which could drink the most of my mother's ketchup. I drank almost a whole jar of it, and I felt warm inside all the rest of the day. If my mother finds it out I bet my father will warm me on the outside. Nothing happened today which was Monday.

HAD TO WORK TOO HARD

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Gave Her Strength

Mt. Carmel, Pa.—"After my second baby was born I had to work too hard and be on my feet too much because my husband was ill. After his death I was in such a weakened and run-down condition that nothing seemed to help me. I am starting the fourth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and feel a great deal better. I am much stronger and don't get so tired out when I wash or work hard. I do housekeeping and dressmaking and I highly recommend the Vegetable Compound. I am willing to answer letters."—Mrs. Gertrude Bevis, 624 S. Market St., Mt. Carmel, Pa.

Love's Awakening

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affections

BY ADELE GARRISON

Plan to Insure Silence of the Tigers

I SHOT a quick look at Katie as she loftily gave me a warning concerning the probable "snooping" of the Tiger family into the melodramatic affairs of Eleanor Lincoln while they were in her employ. Was it possible that she had forgotten the many times that she herself had been reproved for her inordinate curiosity in her years of service with me? I did not think there was anyone in the world more curious than my little maid, and nothing save my realization of her loyalty and efficiency had induced me to overlook the exasperating fault and keep her in my employ.

But Katie's face held no consciousness of the beam in her own eye. She was entirely occupied with the mote in the orbs of the Tigers, and I saw with relief that the solution of the problem Lillian's promise of employment to the family had brought me promised to be an easy one.

"I do not know how much the Tigers know," I said slowly, "but you can see for yourself, can't you, that it is very important they do not gossip about affairs here?"

"You bet your boots," Katie returned importantly. "But how you goin' ston peoples from talking ven dere tongues hang in middle und wag bot ends all at vunce? Shoost tell me dat!"

She put her hand up and brushed it across here eyes in so ludicrous an imitation of a brooding thinker that I almost cuined things by laughing aloud. But Katie was so intent upon her own reactions that she paid no attention to mine, and presently she took down her hand and leaned toward me with an air of being about to impart a great truth—or perhaps a secret.

"I tell you vot," she said. "Yen folks link dey not inside tings, den dey try find not everything. But set you make dem link dey eat's vishers demselves, den dey not vorry so much. Now set sure ting dose Tigers know some foony biziness goin' on. I link tings all vile, but set none of my beesness, so I keep set I link to mineself."

Her tone was fairly dripping with conscious rectitude, and again I found it hard to control my risibles. But Katie, so absorbed in the contemplation of her own astuteness that she noticed nothing else, was hurrying on, and I compelled myself to grave attention.

"Now how does go?" she asked. "Sift all dese peoples here for few days, you need more help. I like os, so Jeem, but ve not like two oves, und we need some help. Now dose Tigers no more vork at Larches, unil dey like mouses. Maybe dey like comm here few days, help outit. Den you tell dem leetle something—not like you tell me—" she interrupted herself jealously—"but something so dey feel satisfied dey know everything, und ask dem say nodding. I bet my boots dey nefer squawk noddings. Ven peoples link someting dere own bizness, dey not tell tings."

I was so delighted and amazed at the way Katie had played into my hands, by suggesting the very plan I had meant to broach to her albeit finerely, that I almost spoiled the whole beautiful scheme by betraying that I had meant to suggest to her the same course to which she had just advised me. But I caught my careless speech back in time, and turned an enthusiastic face toward my little maid.

"That is a splendid plan, Katie," I said sincerely. "However did you think of it?"

"Oh, I not so slow," she said loftily, then her dignity broke, and she giggled. "Me, I no beautiful, but I no doonb, nuder. Und I bet you link like dat yourself, eef you take leetle time," she added generously. "You so full cup blindness dese days you no have time link nuttings. Ven you link dose Tigers better room?"

Adroitly she had dropped her lofty tone and was again my humble helper asking my advice upon a detail of domestic machinery. I took her unconscious cue, and rose from my chair.

"I'll get hold of them right away," I said. "Mrs. Underwood tells me Miss Lincoln's relatives—I mean her servants—will close The Larches and leave tomorrow morning, so perhaps the Tigers can come in in tomorrow."

"Dat's good," Katie commented, adding as I went toward the door, "Yun ting I always knew—dose Lincolns nefer dat dame's cousin und aunt. Dey always pretending like in movies."

At the word "pretending" I turned hastily back from the door.

"There is something I want you to 'pretend' like the movies if the Tigers come here to help," I said.

Perhaps "snob" is derived from "snub." That's what he mostly does.

NEW BABY DISTURBS TIRED OFFICE WORKER

"When my eldest boy was just a few weeks old he was badly constipated from my milk," says a Nebraska mother. "He kept us awake so much, my husband almost slept over his desk at the office. Then my doctor got us to give baby some Castoria and the next day he was much better. His stomach and bowels began acting perfectly and he gave us no more trouble." Avoid imitations of Castoria. The Fletcher signature marks the genuine, purely-vegetable, harmless Castoria, doctors everywhere advise for those ills of babies and children, such as colic, constipation, colds, biliousness, etc.—Adv.

SHADOWS OF OLD AGE AVERTED BY DRINK

Winchester, Tenn.—Although ninety-two years of age, Mrs. E. J. Motlow, West Sixth Avenue, has avoided the shadows that usually creep upon old age. Happy and contented, she attributes this condition of health largely to her sensible selection of mealtime drinks.

"I have been drinking Postum," she says, "for a period of three years because the 30-day test proved so successful. Within these years my general health has improved until I am now without a physical ailment. My digestion is perfect.

Stems tide of age

"Perhaps I am better qualified to speak of the real merits of Postum than many persons who are young indeed compared to the ninety-two years which I have witnessed with their seasons of trials and joys. Happiness and contentment seize supreme with me as this very moment the shadows of old age have not crept upon me and I can look toward the future with an assurance of being able to continue the count of the milleposts along the highway of time, Frankly, I am grateful and thankful, too, that it has been possible for me to stem the tide of advanced age.

"When I begin to include Postum on the menu, I was unable to leave my room for any cause; now, thanks to Postum, I am in the dining-room as quickly as the table has been arranged. Postum comes first with me as a drink; it is the most refreshing liquid of which I have ever partaken."

What is your health age?

It doesn't matter how old you are in years—it's how old you feel that counts. Many a middle-aged person is still young in spirit—while many a young man or woman has already lost the buoyancy of youth. They don't seem as they should; they are nervous and irritable by day.

So often the real cause lies in a slight mealtime indigestion—the regular use of caffein. Eliminate caffein from your diet—drink Postum in its place—a nourishing hour like something itself out, how much younger you feel!

Try this change for thirty days and see! Then decide if you will ever go back to mealtime doses of caffein. Four out of five decide "No!"

Postum is made of roasted whole wheat and bran—no trace of any artificial stimulant in it. Nothing to get on your nerves, to repel sleep, or affect digestion. You'll enjoy Postum for its own sake, too—for its rich, full-bodied flavor. Millions prefer Postum's flavor to that of any other mealtime drink.

Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Both cost less than other mealtime drinks—only one-half cent a cup. Order today—start your 30-day test!

Girl Victim of Another Baffling Torch Murder; Third Outrage in Year

Only Few Slender Clues Available to Detectives; Tragedy Occurs at Scarsdale, N Y; Identity of Girl Being Traced Through Slippers

SCARSDALE N Y., April 29—The leering hideous spectre of another "torch murderer" baffled detectives today as they sought not only to apprehend the fiend who strangled and cremated a young woman under a blossoming apple tree on the outskirts of this city but also to establish the identity of the victim whose body was charred beyond recognition

Seared fragments of a flowered cretonne house-dress, a milk bottle reeking with the odor of kerosene, a pair of snake-skin slippers and dental bridgework in the girl's mouth—these constituted the patchwork of slender clues out of which police hope to bring to justice the perpetrator of the third outrage in a year in which a human body has been made a funeral pyre

The body was found late Saturday by Joseph Selrey a steam fitters helper and the horror of his discovery sealed Selrey's lips for six hours police not learning of the gruesome find until late Saturday night

Doctor Horrified

A squad of detectives was hurriedly dispatched to the scene and Medical Examiner Amos O Squire immediately performed an autopsy on the pitifully scorched body The examination disclosed that the girl had been strangled perhaps by her own nightgown before her slayer had transformed her body into a flaming human torch

Dr Squier who has conducted hundreds of autopsies in Westchester county was horrified at the condition of the girl's body The victim, he said was about 21 years old 110 pounds in weight and about 5 feet 4 inches tall She had reddish brown hair blue eyes, small ears and a slightly turned up nose

Finds Clothing

Two and a half miles from the murder scene a sleuthing reporter found a bundle of girl's clothing wrapped in a New York newspaper dated April 14 The bundle contained just necessary travelling requisites, and police are working on the angle that the slayer lured the girl from her home by a promise of marriage and murdered her

Additional clothing was found in a blue manilla paper bag on which was scrawled in pencil, the notation

Miss Draycott—paid"

A pair of snakeskin slippers found in the bundle fitted the victim's feet perfectly and it is on these slippers and the dental work in the girl's mouth that hope for her identification centers. Special numbers on the girl's shoes are being traced with the manufacturer and with the faint possibility that her identity may be established in this way

See Attempt To Hide Identity

NEW YORK April 29—The gruesome technology of torch murders, marking a new departure in the attempt of murders to so sear the bodies of their victims that identification and subsequent capture of the slayers would be almost impossible began Feb. 21 1925.

On the date the blazing body of Miss Margaret Brown governess in the home of James P Gillespie of New York was found beside a highway near Bernardsville N J

As was likely the case of the unidentified girl whose body was here in Scarsdale romance apparently led Miss Brown to her death She had resigned her position drawn several thousands of dollars in bonds—her life savings—and was reported to have kept a rendezvous with a man

Her murderer was never caught although he sent many letters to police confessing the crime and gloating over the inability of authorities to bring him to justice

The other analogous case is that of Mrs. Mildred Mowry whose charred corpse was found beside a Cranford N J road last Feb 2 Authorities investigating the Scarsdale murder are heartened by the fact that there seemed little hope for Mrs Mowry's identification as there now seems for the Scarsdale victim

Henry Campbell who has confessed to bigamously marrying and murdering Mrs. Mowry is in jail in Elizabeth N J., awaiting trial

BOSTON BRAVES BIG SURPRISE OF 1929 BASEBALL SEASON

Termed Worst Looking Club in National, Team Now First

WITH two weeks of the buddin season gone the Boston Braves remain the big surprise of baseball Termed the worst looking outfit in the big leagues they are still in first place in the National loop a full game ahead of the Chicago Cubs

Judge Emil Fuchs and his kitchen cabinet of former managers are enjoying a good laugh at the expense of experts who predicted that the club would fall to pieces because of too many bosses The team has been getting good pitching and the dollerins, veterans of the club are knocking the cover off the ball Four of their victories were gained at the expense of the hapless Brooklyn Dodgers but they showed real strength in beating the Giants twice

Descent Is Due

The Braves probably will begin a rapid descent down the league ladder when the western clubs come East this week but meanwhile fans at Boston are entertaining visions of another Miracle team like the inspired 1914 outfit which sported from last place to a pennant and a world's championship

The Giants have been getting spotty pitching and have slumped at bat in several games They have passed up a golden opportunity in failing to roll up a big lead at the expense of the weaker eastern teams before the western clubs come East The slugging Cubs appear to be stronger than the McGrawmen at present

An Even With Yanks

In the American League the Philadelphia Athletics have scored a moral victory by breaking even in four games with the Yankees They will not be burdened by any inferiority complex when they play the world's champions in Philadelphia today Connolly New York's pitching ace has failed to show his old form while Lefty Grove has demonstrated that he can beat the Hugmen and these factors have done much to equalize the two teams

Babe Ruth hit his second home run of the season as the Yankees downed the Senators yesterday 7 to 5 It was one of the longest homers ever made at Washington The Yankee slugger collected attack piled up a six run lead for Waite Hoyt in the fifth inning

The Red Sox lost to the Athletics 7 to 5 in the first championship Sunday game ever played in Boston Ed Rommel helped win his own game with a home run

Browns Beat Tigers

The smart and sprightly St Louis Browns converted seven hits into six runs in beating Detroit 6 to 5 The Brownies are still tied with the Athletics for first place

Another four hit game was turned in by Jesse Haines veteran southpaw who shut out Pittsburgh from Brooklyn The Bucs trimmed St Louis 9 to 2 after Pete Alexander had been taken out for a pinch hitter

Travis Jackson also clouted two homers as the Giants swamped the Phillies 8 to Rain washed out the second game of a scheduled double bill

With Percy Jones on the mound the Braves subdued Brooklyn 5 to 2 in a six inning affair

Track Interest Shifts To Ohio Relays This Week

WITH the thirty fifth annual Pennsylvania Relay carnival and the Drake relays being written into the annals of track history now, interest today was shifted to the scene of the sixth annual Ohio relays at Ohio State university Friday and Saturday of this week

More than 500 athletes representing approximately 50 schools and colleges will arrive in Columbus Thursday night and Friday to compete in the middle west's greatest track and field events of the year Representing every section of the United States this group will be one of the finest arrays of talent assembled on the cinder path this season

The natural spotlight will be turned on the 100 yard dash which will see the nation's best sprinters attempt to set a new mark with George Simpson of Ohio State the champion of the Penn relays leading the field Although he failed by one-tenth of a second to equal his own mark of 9.6 seconds his time in the dual meet between Ohio State and the University of Pittsburgh the black haired Ohioan was two yards or more ahead of his nearest rival in all three heats of the century at Philadelphia Saturday

Ohio State which collectively took the honors of the day in the Quaker City will attempt to hold their records established there and are expected to come out of the frazas with the greatest number of points In a new feature for the Buckeye carnival Ohio State's 440-yard shuttle hurdle relay team national champions last year will again try for new honors At the Penn relays the Buckeye quartet lost the race when Crooks stumbled over the fourth hurdle and placed fourth in the event

He over the best time in the shuttle relay was 1 03 8-10 while at Des Moines in the Drake classic a new record was established in 1 02 2-10 If everything goes well Ohio's entry in the shuttle should go again and if the track is fast, a new world's record may be established The Illinois quartet which Ohio State has beaten twice is the new world's champion shuttle hurdle relay team having done the remarkable time mentioned at the Drake relays The Illini outfit will be here Friday and Saturday and will fight it out with the Buckeyes

ENGLAND HOPES TO WIN OPEN TOURNEY

British Victory in Ryder Cup Matches Causes Jump in Stock

LONDON April 29—Still enjoying a warm glow of satisfaction over the brilliant victory of the British golf professionals Saturday which brought the Ryder cup back to England and with it a good deal of lost prestige close followers of the game and thousands of others not so close situated today upon England's chances in the open championship at Muirfield on May 9

Hope for a British victory in the open this year more or less dormant before the Ryder cup matches has revived to an extent where it might almost be called unbounded confidence

Since 1920 when Arthur Havers beat Walter Hagen by a single stroke every British open has been won by an American

However among the 142 entries for the open there are 71 Americans and their strength is not being discounted despite Saturday's result

When the open became the entire Ryder cup squad consisting of Hagen Leo Diegel Horton Smith Gene Sarazen Al Espinosa Johnny Farrell Johnny Golden Al Watrous Ed Dudley and fortune next will be reinforced by such golfers as MacDonald Smith Wild Bill Melhorn Tommy Armour Tolbr Cruickshank and Jim Barnes among the professionals with George Von Elm leading the amateurs After his sensational play Saturday Diegel has in some measure displaced Hagen as the one the Britons most fear

CLEVELAND BEATEN AFTER HARD BATTLE BY CHISOX, 2 TO 1

Reds Gather 21 Safeties To Take Bruins Across at Redland Field

BY BOB ELLIOTT

POUNDING four Cub hurlers for a total of 21 hits including eight doubles and one triple the Reds emerged on the long end of a 17 to 1 count in the first meeting of the season between Cincinnati and Chicago at Redland field yesterday

The Cubs caused no little trouble to Kelp Kremer and Risey the Cincinnati boys who were delegated to mound duty The Cubs socked out 10 hits including two circuit smashes by Hack Wilson and doubles by Cuyler and Carlson Only three errors were made in the entire game which required two hours and 51 minutes to complete

Chicago's White Sox dumped the Indians further in the second division when they played errorless ball behind Grady Adkins four hit performance

It was an unfortunate game all the way around from the standpoint of Joe McCarthy the Cub manager Besides losing the game the Cubs lost the services of Schulte the recently purchased catcher The only remaining wearer of the mask is the kid Angley who will catch the last three games at Cincinnati The win put the Reds a little closer to fifth place as Philadelphia lost to the Giants

Chick Dressen returned to third base yesterday and socked out four hits in five attempts these including two doubles and a triple Gooch also got two doubles and two singles in five trips Wilson led the Cubs with two home runs and a single

Walter Miller the former Ohio State hurler lost a tough decision at the windy city when his eight hit game failed into insignificance before the fine hurling of Mr Adkins Bob Falk got the Indians only extra base hit of the game when he doubled to start the second frame This hit was followed by singles by Jamieson and Falkner which scored Falk with the tribe's lone tally The Sox scored in the first on two singles and a hit batsman One more in the eighth came when Kamm doubled and Hoffman singled him home with the winning run Joe Sewell committed the only error of the game although it was not a costly bobble Adkins walked four men and struck out one while Miller walked one and whiffed one of the Sox

Charlie Jamieson after hitting in ten straight games failed to get a safe bingle off the old rookie of the Chisox

Wild Bill Mehlhorn Gets Good Laugh as U. S. Loses

BY DAVIS J WALSH

BOISTEROUS BILL MELHORN the untamed probably is laughing way down in his shirt bosom today at the American Ryder cup team which set sail for England with a band playing on and finished on Saturday with a piccolo solo Wilfrid Wilson you understand didn't know that you can perk with a spoon and in other ways lacked the cultural niceties that appeal to British taste so among the 110 000 000 Americans who weren't mentioned for the team William was one

This isn't the real reason by the way but it is close enough to the truth to serve the purpose Because of certain manifestations American golf sensed the fact that the British wouldn't approve of William and this being the case there was nothing for it of course but to ignore the young man in a great big way He had the golf He didn't have the piping rock manner as specified by section A rule 1 of the International code

—It would be pleasant in view of this state of affairs to say that Melhorn's absence brought about America's most unexpected defeat but the statement in question would be a bit out of focus with the facts

These may be summed up frisquely by stating that the best Ryder cup team American golf ever sponsored sustained what in some respects was the worst Yankee defeat in the history of international team play because the British were much too good for us Melhorn might have drawn the decision finer than the ultimate score to 7 to 5 He might have replaced Dudley as Sarazens partner on Friday and pulled out a squared match instead of the 2 and 1 defeat sustained However there was nothing in the rules that compelled him to play better than Dudley so this is idle surmise

Great or merely ordinary he couldn't have affected Saturday's return for those saw the British playing golf that just wasn't in the director's script We have been doing a lot of promiscuous gloating about our superiority in international golf but if England's effort on Saturday wasn't a one-day gesture the day when it will be prepared to reassert a degree of dominance wouldn't seem to be far distant

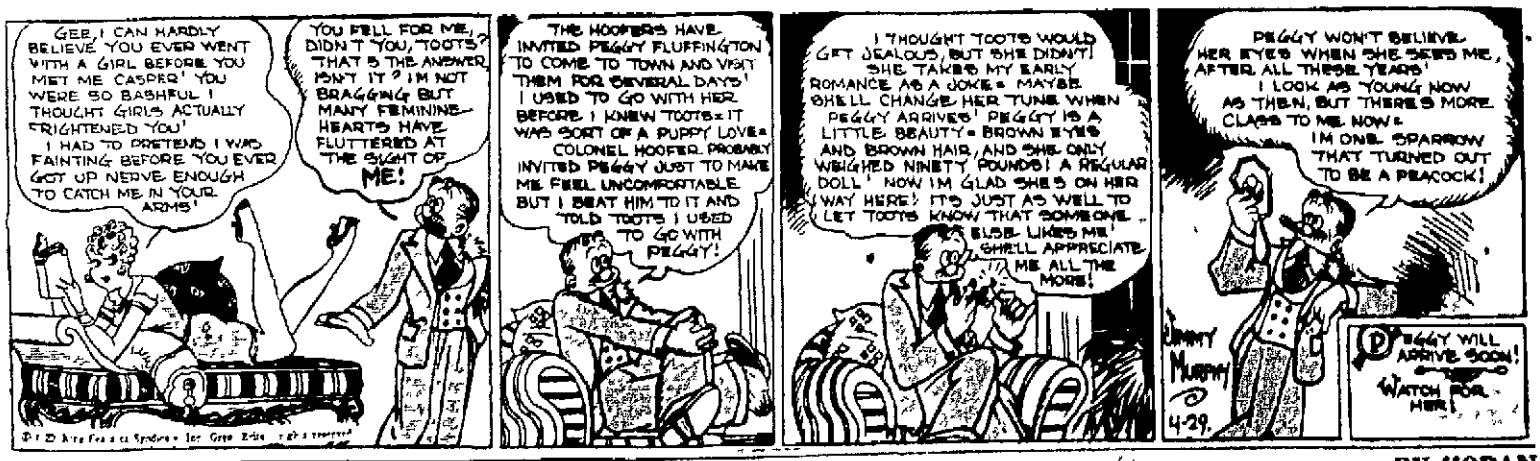
TOOTS AND CASPER — THE VAIN PEACOCK — BY JIMMY MURPHY



GEE, I CAN HARDLY BELIEVE YOU EVER WENT WITH A GIRL BEFORE YOU MET ME CASPER! YOU WERE SO BASHFUL I THOUGHT GIRLS ACTUALLY FRIGHTENED YOU!
I HAD TO PRETEND I WAS FAINTING BEFORE YOU EVER GOT UP NERVE ENOUGH TO CATCH ME IN YOUR ARMS!
YOU FELL FOR ME, DIDN'T YOU, TOOTS? THAT'S THE ANSWER, ISN'T IT? I'M NOT BRAGGING BUT MANY FEMININE HEARTS HAVE FLUTTERED AT THE SIGHT OF ME!
THE HOOPERS HAVE INVITED PEGGY FLUFFINGTON TO COME TO TOWN AND VISIT THEM FOR SEVERAL DAYS! I USED TO GO WITH HER BEFORE I KNEW TOOTS- IT WAS SORT OF A PUPPY LOVE- COLONEL HOOPER PROBABLY INVITED PEGGY JUST TO MAKE ME FEEL UNCOMFORTABLE. BUT I BEAT HIM TO IT AND TOLD TOOTS I USED TO GO WITH PEGGY!
I THOUGHT TOOTS WOULD GET JEALOUS, BUT SHE DIDN'T! SHE TAKES MY EARLY ROMANCE AS A JOKE- MAYBE SHE'LL CHANGE HER TUNE WHEN PEGGY ARRIVES! PEGGY IS A LITTLE BEAUTY- BROWN EYES AND BROWN HAIR, AND SHE ONLY WEIGHED NINETY POUNDS! A REGULAR DOLL! NOW I'M GLAD SHE'S ON HER WAY HERE! IT'S JUST AS WELL TO LET TOOTS KNOW THAT SOMEONE ELSE LIKES ME! SHE'LL APPRECIATE ME ALL THE MORE!
PEGGY WON'T BELIEVE HER EYES WHEN SHE SEES ME, AFTER ALL THESE YEARS! I LOOK AS YOUNG NOW AS THEN, BUT THERE'S MORE CLASS TO ME NOW- I'M ONE SPARROW THAT TURNED OUT TO BE A PEACOCK!
PEGGY WILL ARRIVE SOON! WATCH FOR HER!

NEXT BALL MEETING IS SET FOR MAY 6

Rule Changes and Schedule Will Come Before Commission Next Week

Discussion of rule changes with managers and captains of local recreation ball teams and the adoption of the schedule for the opening games on May 13 will be the main questions facing the Marion recreational ball commission when it holds its next meeting at 8 o'clock Monday night, May 6. It had previously been announced that the next meeting of the commission would be held tonight.

It was also announced that a monthly attendance report of all Sunday school teams was required to be filed with the commission. This was published through a misunderstanding as the commission voted to banish all written reports for Sunday school teams. The only thing that is required from the Sunday school's is to have their attendance records at the church open to inspection by the commission at any time.

THE WEATHER

Fair, probably light frost in east and somewhat warmer in northwest portions tonight. Tuesday increasing cloudiness followed by showers in west portions; somewhat warmer in east and south portions.

15 Per Cent. Call Loan Rate Cools Enthusiasm of Bulls

GENERAL TREND OF MARKET DOWNWARD

Moderate Rally Follows Heavy Accumulation of Week-End Selling

WESTINGHOUSE DOWN 7

Money Expected To Advance to 20 Per Cent This Week

BY W. S. COUSINS
I. N. S. Financial Editor

NEW YORK, April 29—Industrial shares travelled a long distance to-day without arriving at any place in particular. The 15 per cent. call money rate cooled off the enthusiasm of the bulls, even though it was generally agreed that the money market squeeze was due in large measure to week-end financing, which would be all over in a day or two. The trouble is that month-ends appear to come more often than they did and that Wall Street is generally of the opinion that the tight money market has been "made to order" for the benefit of the money lenders.

After the market had absorbed the heavy accumulation of week-end selling, in the course of which prices dropped off one to three points, a moderate rally was brought about by short covering and speculative buying. The 15 per cent. call loan rate was announced in the early afternoon, but even that did not represent to stock market experts the "worst" of what is likely to happen to money rates this week. At least 20 per cent. is looked for, but the bulls have been banking on the promise of important New York bankers to stand by in case of a money famine, as they did in the last week of March.

The bulls were not nearly as confident as they were on Saturday. From the opening gong stocks were offered on the market and prices fell. Westinghouse dropped seven points to 151; United Aircraft eight points to 121; Corn Products 4 to 96. Columbia Graphophone, last week's big mystery stock, slipped off about five points. Bethlehem Steel sold off three points at 103¼; Radio was off 3½ and United States Steel a point. Losses in other active shares rarely exceeded a point or two and on the whole the market gave a very good account of itself.

DIES IN AKRON

J. C. Davis, Former Marion Resident, Victim of Influenza

J. C. Davis, age 78, who until four months ago resided in this city, passed away early this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. A. Corbin, of Akron. Death resulted from influenza, from which he had been suffering for the past three and a half months.

He was born and spent practically all of his life in Mt. Union, Pa., where he will be buried.

He is survived by four children, Mrs. C. A. Corbin, of Akron, Mrs. H. H. Bowe, of Philadelphia, F. H. Davis, of Massillon, and I. O. CLEARING HIGHER

Bank clearings here Saturday stood at $84,475.31, according to reports from the Fahey Bank, clearing house. This is somewhat higher than a week ago, when clearings amounted to $77,350.20. This increase is partially due to the fact that Saturday was but two days after April 25, which is payday for several Marion factories.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

A fancy price, yes, but they are fancy berries. Select berries from Louisiana patches are bringing 10 cents a pint on Marion markets this morning. These are the most healthful looking berries seen here this year, in the opinion of local grocers.

Most berries imported from other states lack color and taste by the time they have reached local markets, but not so with these berries, which grocers say are the finest available. They are larger than the average berry, and are well colored, and grocers claim they are quite tasty.

Local berries will be on the market here within a month, grocers predict. This will do much to lower the price of berries, and will furnish a variety to choose from. Local berries always gain favor over the imported varieties.

Fruit and vegetable prices were steady this morning, with no changes reported. Most prices are steady after some drops last week.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, April 29—Bread grains gradually worked into new low price levels for the crop during the past week as speculative holders continued to liquidate because of the bearish nearby supply and demand situation which there was no constructive news to offset. Coarse grains were relatively firmer on the improved cash situation, but buying power was checked by weakness of wheat and prices slipped off some.

At the close Saturday wheat prices were 2¾@3⅛c lower for the week. Corn was 1½@1¾c down; oats ½c off to ⅝c higher, and rye was ¼@1¾c up.

An Acute Position

The critical position of wheat which has prevailed this season because of the large stocks rapidly is coming to the point where it can only be termed acute. It was the realization of this that led to the continued selling and prevented even a technical rally of any consequence. There was evidence of heavy unloading on the part of eastern account, leaders of the January bull uptrend.

With the above average conditions which have prevailed since the start of growing weather, the Winter crop is above average and complaints practically nil. Each day brings nearer to certainty that within the next two months the Winter harvest will add to our present supplies some 550,000,000 to 600,000,000 bu. of wheat.

The potential weakness of the situation lies in the fact that present terminal facilities are nearly employed, and the farmer will undoubtedly marked the remainder of the old crop as soon as the new is assured. The consequent distress is readily apparent. And, meanwhile, demand shows no indication of reducing present stocks substantially before the early run of wheat to market.

Sentiment Very Bearish

May deliveries start Wednesday and the heavy open interest and excessive stocks appear to indicate a continued drag on the market. Sentiment is very bearish and it is felt little in the way of sustained upturns will be seen until either prices reach still lower levels which would promote demand or that that demand be stimulated by some unforseen occurrence in the way of crop damage.

Shipping demand for corn and oats was improved this past week, though spot demand was not as active. Clearing weather indicated an early seasonal movement, probable for this week and stocks give evidence of decreasing considerably. While this brought considerable support to the futures of these grains, a broad speculative demand was lacking mainly, because of the bearish wheat situation.

Erie President Announces New Luxury Train to Run at Low Cost to Patrons

Service Between N. Y. and Chicago Planned at Lowest Fare on Record for 25-Hour Schedule; Train Provided with All Modern Details To Start June 2

President J. J. Bernet of the Erie railroad today announced the inauguration of a new 25-hour passenger train between New York and Chicago to begin service on Sunday, June 2. The new train, which will be known as the Erie Limited, Mr. Bernet said, will be made up of the newest types of equipment, specially prepared for it, and will provide a new passenger service with modern luxuries and comforts at the lowest fare prevailing for 25-hour service between America's two greatest cities.

Marion's schedule of the new train is announced as follows:

Westbound No. 1—Leave Marion 9:16 a. m., eastern standard time; arrive Chicago 5:25 p. m., central standard time.

Eastbound No. 2—Leave Chicago 6:36 p. m., central standard time; arrive Marion 1:02 a. m., eastern standard time; arrive New York, Jersey City station, 7:10 p. m., eastern standard time, Chambers st. station, 7:22 p. m., West 23rd st. station, 7:30 p. m.

Part of Bernet Program

The inauguration of the new train, which has been expected for some time, comes as the fulfillment of Mr. Bernet's plan to equip the Erie for high grade passenger service, on which he began work when he assumed the presidency of the road two years ago.

In announcing the new train today President Bernet said: "We realized at once that the communities along the Erie railroad ought to have a fast and modern passenger service commensurate with their importance. We were not able to put it on at once because we had to do a great many things to arrange the railroad for a high speed passenger standard. With the end of 1929 the Erie railroad will have spent during the last three years more than $85,000,000 reequipping itself. We have largely rebuilt the railroad and strengthened and equipped the Erie with the latest types of cars and fast, powerful locomotives, and now we are ready to put on a passenger service that will meet the demand of anybody for speed, comfort and, even luxury.

"We have spent a lot of time in preparation and a lot of money to put on the Erie Limited. I know that the Erie railroad communities are going to be as proud of it as we are. There are some innovations on it which I am sure will be found only on this railroad.

Low Fare Schedule

"This will be the first train that the luxurious comforts of fast modern travel will be available at the moderate fares prevailing on the Erie. The fare will be the lowest existing for any 25-hour service between Chicago and New York. There is a small extra fare for passage strictly between New York, Paterson and Chicago. But there will be no increase in the fares for points located between Paterson and Chicago. That means that all the principal Erie cities and towns are going to enjoy fast, modern travel with the luxurious Limited between themselves and Chicago and New York, or just between themselves, with no excess fare whatever, and with a train that is giving a real express fare service.

"The Erie railroad has secured the most up-to-date equipment from the Pullman company for this train and we have provided equipment to give real comfort and real convenience for the passengers who do not ride in the Pullmans.

"We are putting on club lounge cars, in which smoking will be permitted, for the exclusive use of passengers who do not buy Pullman tickets. For business men making short trips, or for those making longer ones and who want to stretch out and lounge about, we think this new type of car will be appreciated. It has a rubber tiled floor, running hot and cold water, electric fans, brilliant lighting, and the upholstery is genuine Spanish leather.

Luxurious Equipped

"For coach passengers who do not want to occupy the club lounge car we have provided new individual seat, all-steel coaches, and these also are equipped with hot water, fans and modern lighting. They are expensively decorated in blended color schemes and were turned out in our own shops. They will have rich carpets all over the floors—not just in the aisles—and they will be the equal of any Pullman car for riding comfort and pleasant surroundings. The seats can be swung around so the passengers either face forward, or face the sides of the car and may look directly at the scenery.

"For Pullman passengers the Erie Limited will have observation platform lounge cars; the newest type of chair cars fitted with deep upholstered easy chairs for daylight travel and the newest type of sleeping cars. These will have the improved berths with coil spring mattresses, individual reading lamps, permanent head boards between the sections which give the effect of making each section a semi-compartment, and new indirect lighting which gives brilliance but no glare. The men's and women's dressing rooms will be larger and more luxuriously appointed with porcelain plumbing fixtures and the cars will having drawing rooms and compartments which may be used singly or en suite—something which our travelers have not had before. The upholstery, hangings and color schemes have been worked out by the Pullman artists for their quiet elegance and the impression created by one of these interiors is that of stepping into a luxurious home.

"Our new dining cars, built by the Pullman company, will run on the Erie Limited and nothing but the freshest foods bought daily in the best markets will be served.

Advance Showing

"Before the Erie Limited actually goes into service on June 2, we are going to have it out on the railroad for two weeks so that the Erie folks can look it over and see for themselves what a really fine train it is. It is going to be exhibited at every station at which it is scheduled to stop and we are going to invite all of our friends to come down to their home stations and look it over as guests of the Erie. The exact date and time of the exhibition will be advertised in the newspapers. We are going to send out written invitations to folks whose names we know, but if friends of the Erie fail to receive a formal invitation, I want them to feel that they have a personal invitation from me to come down and see the train."

Begin "Unseen Hands" Thursday.

BERMUDA:
Thomas Moore, the Irish poet wrote of Bermuda:
"If you could see the beauty
That beneath my window lies"
The beauty is there, without doubt, but if you could see the people of Bermuda scrubbing the roofs so that the rain water would be clean—that would be a different story. There is no wonder white water in Bermuda, except rain.
A water supply such as Marion has is an invaluable asset to any community.
